

No. 726.

In the United States Court for the Northern Judicial District of the Indian Territory, sitting at Tahlequah,
 In the matter of the estate of
 Alice Bayles, deceased,

P. D. M.
 P. L.
 C. L. B.
 C. D.
 C. I.

And this cause coming on to be heard upon proof of heirship herein filed this day by the administrator, and it appearing to the Court that the deceased died without issue and that she left surviving her no husband, but her father, Edward Still, that her mother is deceased, and that she left surviving her the following brothers and sisters: Cook Still, Malgreen Owens, Ned Still and Sallie Still, who are adults, and the Court being fully advised finds that the said Cook Still, Malgreen Owens, Ned Still and Sallie Still are the sole surviving heirs of the decedent, and as such are the owners in fee of the decedent's allotment of land in the Cherokee Nation and that her father, Edward Still, is the owner of a life estate in said decedent's allotment.

Done at Tahlequah, on this the 22th day of August, 1906.

Luman S. Parker, Jr.
