

(21), March, Range Twelve (20) East, Cherokee Nation, Indian Territory. That prior thereto, and on the 13th day of November, 1906, he, the said David Smith, made a deed to said land to the Plaintiff, The Shawnee Oil and Gas Company, but that on arriving at the age of maturity he disaffirmed the said deed and made a deed to the defendants herein, and these matters are shown by the testimony of said David Smith and others; and the Court finds as a matter of law that the deed to the Plaintiff, The Shawnee Oil and Gas Company is null and void, and that the said deed to the said defendants, is a valid deed and transfers to them the title to said lands, and defendants are now the owners of the said lands; and

It. Is, Therefore, Ordered, Considered, And Decreed, that the plaintiff take nothing by this suit; and the deed to the defendants be declared to be a valid deed, and the Plaintiff is enjoined from asserting any title under its deed as against these defendants. It is further Ordered, considered, and decreed that the defendants, John C. Slair and John S. Thomason do have and recover of and from the Plaintiff, The Shawnee Oil and Gas Company possession of said lands, and all their costs herein expended, which the Clerk is directed to tax, and process is awarded to carry into effect this decree.

William R. Lawrence,
Judge of said Court.
