

first part for electricity from party of the second part, shall be a subject to deduction of the amount of electricity that may be transmitted over said lines of the second party in figuring the amount of payment due party of the first part each calendar month, and the provisions of paragraph 4, as to metering, shall be applicable hereto.

9. Party of the first part reserves the right to extend its lines, and offer electrical current for sale at any point it may see fit, or desire.

10. Party of the first part agrees to deliver electricity to party of the second part at such points of connection, so long as party of the second part has contracts or franchises, during the life of franchises of party of the second part in cities and towns being furnished by it; but party of the first part shall not be obligated to furnish such current if second party defaults in the payments of its obligations, or notifies party of the first part that it desires the discontinuance of such service. And party of the first part shall not be liable nor responsible in damages to party of the second part for its failure to furnish electricity to party of the second part, for any cause whatever.

11. Nothing in this contract shall obligate the party of the first part to extend its high line, in any direction, or manner whatever, in order to furnish electricity to party of the second part.

12. Nothing in this contract shall prevent, nor in any manner restrain, nor interfere with, the sale by party of first part of electricity to municipalities, corporations or individuals.

13. The provisions of this contract shall be binding on the successors and assigns of the parties hereto. Executed the day and year first above written.
