

sold whenever the holders of a majority of the interests shall do designate by their votes, the majority to be determined entirely by the amount of interest held by such individual.

(7) It is further mutually agreed by and between the parties hereto that the parties of the second part are to immediately, upon the signing of this contract, take over said work and put down said well with all reasonable dispatch, without unnecessary delay and barring providential interferences to complete the same with all reasonable diligence.

(8) It is further understood and agreed, however, that the party of the first part is to furnish all the necessary appliances, tools, materials, and supplies for the completion of said well, and to do so with all reasonable dispatch and without any unnecessary delay.

(9) It being understood and agreed further that party of the first part shall have the right to employ and discharge the tool dressers and other men employed about said work other than parties of the second part,

(10) It is further mutually agreed by and between the parties hereto that in the arriving at the wisdom and practicability of putting down other wells, the same shall be arrived at by the voting power of these holding the majority of the interests, and in no other way.

Witness our hands, the day and year above set forth.
