And Whereas, in said suit chancery subpoenas were duly served upon each of said defendants, and in due course the defendant The Uncle Sam Oil Company filed its answer and cross-petition in which, among other things, it admitted the necessity for the appointment of receivers, and asked that receivers be appointed, and the defendant, C. W. McPherson, Trustee, filed his answer and cross-petition asking for the foreclosure of a certain mortgage or deed of trust to him as trustee, dated June 20, 1919, securing a bond issue of The Uncle Sam Oil Company amounting to three millions of dollars ($3,000,000.00), and also the foreclosure of a certain mortgage or deed of trust to him as trustee dated May 20, 1921, securing bonds of The Uncle Sam Oil Company to the amount of thirty-seven millions of dollars ($37,000,000.00), and The Kansas Trust Company filed its answer and cross-petition asking for the foreclosure of a certain mortgage or deed of trust to it as trustee dated August 1, 1910, securing bonds of The Uncle Sam Oil Company to the amount of three Hundred Thousand ($300,000.00) Dollars, and asking also the foreclosure of a certain mortgage or deed of trust to it as trustee dated October 15, 1912, securing bonds of The Uncle Sam Oil Company to the amount of Two Hundred Thousand ($200,000.00) Dollars;

And Whereas, various parties and corporations filed intervening petitions in said suit to have established mechanic and other kinds of liens against certain of the properties of The Uncle Sam Oil Company, and for the allowance of large amounts as general unsecured creditors;
