D. Smith as grantee, and conveying lands as follows:

D. Evans who testified the land was not worth over $25.00 per acre and that said sum would be a high price for it at this time said applicant and the evidence offered thereon, and the argument of counsel the court finds:

That the above described land was allotted as the homestead part of his allotment to One Wilson Miller in his life time, a citizen by blood of the Creek Nation, Oklahoma formerly Indian Territory, and that said Wilson Miller departed this life in the month of June 1901, leaving no wife or children surviving him save and except the said Elizabeth Watts, his only daughter; that the said Wilson Miller was a resident of what is now Tulsa County, Oklahoma at the date of his death; that Lizzie or Elizabeth Watts is a full blood Indian Citizen of the Cherokee Nation, Oklahoma, that the aforesaid deed made by her and her husband to W.
